Jimmy obtained his bachelor’s degree in Physical Therapy from Louisiana State University in 1988. After completing a 2-year post graduate program in the study of orthopedic physical therapy through the Kelsey Institute of Physical Rehabilitation Studies, he obtained his board certified specialist certification in Orthopedic Physical Therapy Specialties in 1996. His specialty is the evaluation and treatment of various orthopedic conditions with emphasis on the integration of manual and medical exercise therapy through clinical reasoning and scientific literature. He presently works in a private practice in Baton Rouge, Louisiana where he primarily treats orthopedic and sports related injuries. He is presently a partner of The All well Group, LLC, a continuing education company, and has been teaching continuing education courses since 1996. Jimmy has been utilizing the Kinesio® Taping Method with a wide variety of his patients with great success. He is presently a member of APTA and a Certified Kinesio® Taping Instructor. When not practicing, Jimmy enjoys spending time with his wife and daughter, exercising, computers, and attending LSU sporting events.
