Master of Arts in Education: Education Leadership (MEL)

By enrolling in the Master of Arts in Education: Education Leadership (MEL) degree program at Wheeling University, working educators can earn a master’s degree in a little as one year, entirely online.

PROGRAM PATHS INCLUDE:

- School and School System Leadership
  (for principal and superintendent licensure)
- Instructional Leadership
  (for teachers)

This 33-credit online graduate program offers multiple start dates and the flexibility for completion in one year or more. West Virginia licensure is transferable to most other states through reciprocity agreements. An educator currently holding a master’s degree in education may design his or her own course work through the Sequence of Study Certificate Program.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS:

- Bachelor’s degree
- Professional Teaching Certificate
- Minimum 2.5 undergraduate GPA
- Official undergraduate transcripts
- Completed graduate admissions application
- Current resume
- Written personal goal statement
